HOEME ACQUITTED

OF THE MURDER OF LESLIE

The Jury after ten Minutes Adjournment Returned a Verdict of Not Guilty

At half-past three yesterday afternoon in the Supreme court, Gustave Hoeme was acquitted of the charge of the murder of Mrs. Leslie at Bruderheim on the night of Jan. 25 last. After being out only ten minutes the jury returned a verdict of "not guilty" and Hoeme stepped from the prisoner's box a free man.

When court resumed at two o'clock the room was crowded. The first witness called by the counsel for the Crown was John Nix, Mr. Nix sworn, said he had lived in Bruderheim and had been a partner of Leslie in operating the store. He remembered the night of the fire, but was not watching the building until after the explosion. He saw what was supposed to be a body in the burning store. No one but Leslie had been missing after the fire. The body was buried after the inquest. Dr. Aylen and Dr. Dunn held a post mortem examination, the body being dug up for the purpose. He (Nix) knew it to be the body of Leslie. He was in the store on the night of the fire and left at 11 o'clock.

Left Leslie alone in the store. Dr. Aylen was next called and said he held a post mortem examination on the body on March 10th. The body was not exhumed when he arrived at Bruderheim. Did not know who exhumed the body. Skin and muscles were burned off the trunk and both arms and legs were missing. As far as he could tell by investigation there was a wound in the right ventricle of the heart, about two inches long. The wound appeared to have been caused by some pointed sharp-edged instrument. This was the wound which had caused death. There were three wounds in the thoracic cavity. Two in the direction of the heart, which one had penetrated. Witness had known Leslie.

Cross questioned by Mr. Bowen, witness said the wounds were greater in length than breadth. Leopold Grams was next sworn. He remembered the fire at Leslie's store. Lived with Nix just back of the store. Went to the fire, did not see Leslie. Called out for Leslie but got no answer. After the fire burned down somewhat, he saw a body in the building lying on the west side of the stove. Witness was arrested and kept at Fort Saskatchewan. Lige was in good there too. He had some conversation with Lige. Lige told him that Hoeme committed the murder and asked witness to swear that Hoeme did so. Grams said he could not do that. Lige wanted him to swear that Hoeme had given him (Lige) $10 to keep quiet.

Cross-examined Grams said he did not see Hoeme give Lige $10, and refused to swear he had done so. Sergeant Pennycook was then called by the defense. He said he had had a conversation with Lige while driving with him on March 1st. Lige told him he had gone to the post office for his mail a few days after the fire. Mrs. Hoeme walked with him to the store. After Mrs. Hoeme had gone, Hoeme came around the counter and slipped Lige a packet containing $10, $2 in bills, the remainder in silver. Also in the packet was a paper on which Hoeme had written "Keep your mouth shut or you will be the next to go". Witness had also found a bag under some trees, and when Lige saw it he said "That's the bag Hoeme gave me the money in". Witness had searched Lige's house and all clothes, but could not find the paper Hoeme had given him. In answer to Mr. Bowen, witness said the bag found contained a small bag with silver, the total amount being $137.65.

This was the last witness called. J. C. E. Bowen counsel for defense, then addressed the jury. This case was very simple, he said. It was for them to decide whether the evidence presented. Were they going to hang him on the oath of Lige and Hoeme and the accused were not good friends. Did the jury think the accused would go to a man who was not a friend of his and who was a friend of Leslie's, and pay him money to get Leslie out of the way? Was Lige trying to save his own neck? If his story was true, why did he try to induce a man who was imprisoned with him to put the deed on Hoeme? There was no evidence against Hoeme of threats or en-

Commerce and Industry Paralyzed—British War Ships Enter the Neva

St. Petersburg, Nov. 16.—An order went forth today for a general strike throughout all Russia, again in sympathy with the condemned sailors of Cronstadt. A hundred thousand men walked out in St. Petersburg alone. The magnitude and suddenness of the movement has terrorized the inhabitants and caught the government unawares. The streets are already full of Cossacks and troops, but the authorities hesitate in the face of so gigantic a task. Electric lights are all out and everything is paralyzed. English mill owners have closed down indefinitely. German troops are massing on the Polish frontier. British warships are coming into the Neva to protect foreigners.

SCHOOL BOARD

An adjourned meeting of the school board was held yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock in Secretary Jellett's office. Present were Chairman A. Taylor, K. McLeod, Dr. Ferris and Rev. H. A. Gray.

It was moved and carried that the chairman and the supply committee deal with the coal question with power to act.

Mr. Gray reported having received a petition for a skating rink on the high school grounds. He had declined to grant the petition, the principle of the school having objected.

The meeting then adjourned.

Hoeme Acquitted.

Why should the probable change of the post office or the prospect of more trade, be reasons for one man murdering another? Leslie had not been killed by a revolver, but had apparently been stabbed. And where was the piece of paper on which Hoeme had told Lige to keep quiet? If Lige had produced that paper he would have evidence enough to clear him before any jury. Lige was making too strong a story. Wasn't it just as likely that Lige did the deed, and was trying to put it upon Hoeme? He was not asking them to stretch their consciences, but would they hang a man on such evidence? The evidence of Lige was contradictory, and had also been flatly contradicted by witnesses who had no interest in the case.

C. de W. McDonald, Crown Prosecutor, in his address to the jury, said it was not his duty to try to secure a conviction unless the evidence warranted it. This was a peculiar case. It would be a dangerous thing to bring a conviction unless they really believed the story of Lige. Fair play, and nothing but fair play, was what the British law demanded for every man. It was not his place to urge a conviction.

His Honor summed up the evidence, and addressing the jury, said that the facts apparently showed that Leslie was murdered on January 25, by some person, and that, intentionally or by accident the store was set on fire, and a large quantity of goods stolen by Lige. Lige was arrested on February 11, and about two weeks after, on February 28, Hoeme was arrested, owing to charges made by Lige ten days after the arrest. The evidence against Hoeme consisted solely of admissions made by Lige before and after the fire. The fact that Lige was a cold-blooded thief was not absolute evidence against him. After weighing the evidence carefully, if they were satisfied that Lige's story were true, they could find the accused guilty. If they had any doubts about the story or evidence of Lige, the prisoner was entitled to the benefit of the doubt, and if they believed the story, it would justify a conviction.

The jury fled out, and in ten minutes returned with a verdict of "Not Guilty."

PRAIRIE FIRES

SWEEP A DAKOTA COUNTY.

An Area of 200 Square Miles Burned Over and Plains Spread With Terrible Speed.

St. Paul, Nov. 16.—Advices from South Dakota show that the most disastrous prairie fires that state has known have been in progress for two days in Tripp County. The unopened portion of Rosebud reservation is the scene of the main portion. The destruction of the settled part of the reservation and contiguous territory is threatened as well as Boyd county, Nebraska. Hundreds are hurrying long distances to fight the constantly spreading flames, but these are gaining on them. The prairie grass is long and dry, and the blaze traveling at enormous speed. More than two hundred square miles have been swept by furious flames, and the losses are very extensive. Farms houses and all kinds of buildings have been wiped out and large numbers of range cattle have perished which will prove the heaviest loss.

FRUIT GROWING IN THE CANADIAN WEST

(Manitoba Free Press.)

Readers of the Free Press will remember an interview that appeared in these columns with Augustus W. Lyman Elliott, whose name is so familiar to the history of Minneapolis' beautiful parks and A. W. Latham, secretary of the Minnesota State Horticultural society and editor of the Minnesota State Horticulturalist.

On their return to Minneapolis Prof. Latham embodied his own experiences and those of Mr. Elliott in an article for the October number of his magazine, from which the following excerpts are taken:

Carrying out a long contemplated plan, Mr. Lyman Elliott and the writer left Minneapolis one lowering day in the middle of August, en route to Winnipeg, for a visit to the government experiment station at Brandon, Manitoba, and Indian Head, Assiniboia. What the day lacked, in brightness was fully made up by the wonderful profusion of golden rod, sun flowers, and in an infinite variety of other wild flowers that escorted us all the way across the state and even to Winnipeg itself.

Crossing the state line at the noon hour, the sun broke through the clouds and gave us therefore some of the most beautiful days to complete our tour in northwestern Canada. We were met at the station in Winnipeg by Wm. G. Scott, of that city, treasurer, and one of the leading members of the Western Horticultural society, which has its headquarters in that city. Mr. Scott undertook to show us in a three hours' trip some of the beauties and achievements of this strong, new city of the northwestern plains. The writer had been there twenty-eight years before, when Winnipeg was truly a "backwoods" town, though then the population was over 10,000. It is now a city of 30,000, with a hundred miles of asphalt streets and other improvements. Winnipeg is fortunate in having been built on the bank of two rivers which unite at this place, the Red River of the north and the Assiniboine. Winnipeg pays much attention to the improvement of its parks and the streets of its resident districts, which have a very neat appearance from the wide boulevard of 12 or 15 feet on either side of a sufficiently shady narrow driveway. Shade trees, mainly white elm, which thrive well in that region are being planted in these boulevards all over the city, at the distance of about 15 feet—which mistake can be remedied later by cutting out two-thirds of the trees if they have the nerve to do it, which we very much doubt. We noted also the over planting of trees and shrubs in the parks and other public places of the city. With this little criticism there was much to commend; so many beautiful lawns and flower gardens, and such brilliant flowers that reflected so purely the clearness and brightness of the day, and we fully realized we were in a community of charming houses.

Early morning found us on the undulating plains of Assiniboia, which looked strange indeed with their scattered clumps of poplar, with underbrush of hazel, snowberry, silver-berry, etc. For a hundred miles from daylight to Indian Head, scarce a tree in sight but low regular, but plenty of these in little groves, rarely merging into woods, as far as one could see, all the way. At Indian Head, a town of something under 1,000 inhabitants, lying in the plains of that northwestern country, neat and homelike, though lacking in sufficient quantity the tree growth that in time must be theirs. A half mile's walk from the government station, started in 1890, by the present superintendent, Mr. Angus Mackay is on a tract of quite level ground, consisting of two sections (240 acres). At its inception there was not a trace of bush on the premises, farming probably a little started growth of poplar at its points. Now it is enclosed with hedges of box elder, there called the Manitoba maple, upwards of 20 feet high, with avenues of the same tree, varied occasionally with white elm and gray ash and other sorts, running here and there throughout the town so that there are in all 13 miles of these avenues, bordered, in most cases on both sides, by these hedges or tree rows, some of which are trimmed as wide hedges far enough up for the branches to be out of the way of passing vehicles, and others are trimmed as trees with high trunks in the ordinary way.

This, the reader will understand, is a grain country. Everywhere wheat and more wheat, with occasionally fields of barley and oats and a few potatoes. Once in a while a farmer raises a few vegetables, and perhaps a few small fruits. So that the experiments at this station are limited largely to the production of these crops and the fruits and the principal work which we saw in the several hours' examination of the station, under the guidance of its superintendent, were mainly the growing of grains in experimental plots. As a test of what the country will produce with reasonable wind protection—which unfortunately the farmers of this region seem very loath to provide—this station is a great success, and the things we saw would delight the eye and excite the imagination of any practical farmer.

But we were not there, to study farm conditions, except incidentally, but rather to see what could be done in the various lines of horticulture and glean what lessons we might for the Minnesota horticulturalist. The garden about Mr. Mackay's residence would indicate that they can grow there very much the same variety of flowers and shrubs that are grown in Minnesota. We have certainly seen no finer flowers at home. Although some perennials winter safely they require greater care. Small fruits, including the raspberry, currant, gooseberry and strawberry, also winter with very much the same protection given them in our own state, and bear well, except that the strawberry crop is often cut off by late frosts. Loss in the strawberry yield from some cause is common, we learned at different points in our journey, and they have evidently not tested the art of covering the strawberry plants with straw at the appearance of night to protect the blossoms. As to apples, though some varieties have been put in at Indian Head, we found nothing of value except the Pyrus baccata seedlings and some crosses of the Pyrus baccata with hardy varieties of the common apples, the trees growing having been sent out from the central experiment station in Ontario. These crosses all show a preponderance of the crab and as far as we can judge are hardy, although the fruit in all cases is small and does not promise much value where crabs of such varieties as the Transcendent can be grown. Some varieties of American plums were noticed in fruiting and among them two or three trees of the Weaver that were bearing a very full crop, as a rule the American plum is too late to ripen its fruit there ahead of the European varieties. The plums that succeed best in that region are the Manitoba native, or Prunus nigra.

Ornamental shrubbery there is a large variety that seems to thrive in that region. Nearly all the lilacs; the caragena, which, by the way is much used for hedges and shelter belts, as commonly at the station in a number of places; the dwarf caragena; many of the honeysuckles, especially the Tartarian varieties; the barberries, many of the spiraea, etc.; the cotoneaster is a handsome and perfectly hardy shrub, bearing bright red berries, with which we are not much acquainted at home. A number of very interesting and successful ornamental bushes are being raised up at the station. The ones we noted that seemed of most value were from the native Hawthorn, that being very prickly, not only making a handsome hedge, but also an impenetrable one. One very interesting hedge was grown from the cotoneaster, and there was also a very fine lilac hedge. A neat hedge of the snowberry enclosed the flower gardens in the front of Mr. Mackay's residence. In fact, nearly every variety of ornamental shrub of probable hardiness in that region has been tested at this station and enough kinds saved from the devastation of winter to sufficiently adorn and beautify any home grounds or public parks.

There is much to commend in the very complete and careful way in which this station is carrying out its experiments, and especially when it is known that its work is done, including a full line of experimentation with five stock, with eighteen men, it is apparent that the station is under excellent management. From the cupola of the station barn we had a magnificent view of prairie country, which in this section is highly developed. Farm lands here are held at upwards of $10 an acre. Through the courtesy of Mr. H. H. Campkin, an enterprising citizen of Indian Head, we were taken a long afternoon's ride amongst the grain fields in that vicinity and indeed there were no other kind. The splendid feature of this farming which attracted our attention was the fact that only two crops of grain are raised in three years, the third year being devoted to summer fallowing the ground, which is really a process of storing the rain to make better crops the following two years, a rotation made absolutely necessary in a region where the rainfall is usually less than one-half that of Minnesota. This summer fallowing consists of plowing the ground as soon as vegetation is well started in the spring and the subsequent movement of the surface to fill any growth that may start and keep up a dust mulch. To accomplish these ends requires several cultivations during the summer with a disc harrow or other instrument. The result is the removal of weeds from the grain fields, and as they are destroyed as soon as they start to grow they have no opportunity to grow.

COMMENTS ON THE RESULTS

(Ottawa Free Press)
The Alberta elections have proved that the people of the new province at any rate are not averse to the school policy of the Federal Government. They likewise strongly favor the policy of keeping the public lands in the control of the Dominion for the present, and the results of yesterday show that the progressive Liberal party have almost as firm a hold on the North West as they have on Nova Scotia and British Columbia.
The result should teach the people of Ontario to mind their own business, and look after their own schools and lands. The inhabitants of Alberta may be suffering under tyrannical Liberal rule, but they like it. It suits them; they are growing rich and are happy and contented under it. Why try to force on them the ideas of the narrow political school of Toronto?
The overwhelming defeat is now said to have been due to wholesale bribery. It is claimed that the autonomy bill played no part in the campaign, that the victory was due to the cry, "Vote for Rutherford and the Liberals and the Grand Trunk Pacific will be hurried to completion, vote against them and you will continue to be shut out from the rest of the world." Greater noisiness was never uttered by any defeated party.
The West is evidently satisfied with Liberal rule. It finds that under it different creeds and nationalities live together in harmony. The energy of the Federal officials has opened up the country with almost dangerous rapidity, as is shown by the grain blockade. Justice is administered in a manner that meets the approval of the immigrant from the oppressed countries of Europe and the democratic immigrants from the United States. Never before in the history of a new country has law and order been so well maintained as in the Canadian West. Naturally the people see no reason for a change. They prefer the known to the unknown. They have settled Government and they know that if the agitation set on foot by Mr. R. B. Bennett and Mr. Haultain continued instead of peace and harmony there would be in their young country turned and strife.

It is however, to be regretted, that Mr. Bennett will not be in the first legislative assembly, or rather it is hoped that a place will be made for him. Mr. Bennett, it is true is something of a firebrand; but he is undoubtedly an able man, and a country requires a strong man in the Opposition as well as in the Government. The greatest weakness in Ottawa is that the Conservative party has few men of ability, few in whom even their own party have confidence.
The Conservatives in Canada should now drop the cry that "the young giants" of the West are having the "lash, lead-loaded" applied to them. It is time to drop appeals to prejudice and bigotry and take an intelligent stand on national and imperial questions. The Opposition has dropped the substance for the shadow. They are losing along the line and the election of the Minister at the Interior in Edmonton and now of the Liberal party in Alberta should be a lesson to them that new issues are required and that new methods should be adopted in their political battles.

(Toronto Daily Star)
The Liberals will have twenty out of the twenty-five seats in Alberta. The danger of rebellion in the new Province has disappeared with the defeat of its sole advocate and exponent, Mr. R. B. Bennett, of Calgary, who went down before his Liberal opponent Mr. Cushing.
The people of Calgary seem to have suspected Mr. Bennett of indulging in a great deal of sound and fury signifying nothing. Although he toned down his opinions for local consumption, Alberta never quite got rid of the idea that he was a blatherskite. Besides, although he said nothing about it up there, the rumor of his London utterances on separate schools, armed revolutions, and other kindred matters has spread. Far from springing to arms under R. B. Bennett, this oppressed and down-trodden province of Alberta seems to have sprung upon its champion, knocked him down and put him out of business.
Somehow or other Mr. Bennett did not run true. He lacked the courage of his alleged convictions. He said little or nothing about the education clauses, the pretext being that the topic was crowded off the stage by side issues. At this distance we are at liberty to conclude that Mr. Bennett was silent because he was a political candidate, and had no desire to proclaim views that would estrange the great mass of voters. In spite of Mr. Bennett's cautious tactics, he seems to have met the fate which overtakes shufflers and tergiversators.

(Montreal Daily Star)
The only reason strong enough to have caused a rejection of the Liberal Government under these circumstances would have been a great popular uprising, such as Toronto hoped for, over the school question. Still in stubborn fight by a Western Government on this issue, carried from court to court, must have lighted the fires of religious controversy throughout the country. The victory of the Rutherford Government, in spite of its semi-responsibility for the school clauses in the act of last session will, however, go to show that the people of the West are not so excited over the matter as some of those nearer home.

WINNIPEG MARKETS

[From the Commercial]

Trade in Manitoba wheat in the Winnipeg Market has shown a good demand most of the time. Prices seem to be influenced more by the fluctuations in the American market than by anything else, although the large bulk of wheat must go for export. The lake freight situation is seriously against prices. Owing to delay in unloading at the other side vessels took at least one trip out of three they could make, and freight rates are higher in consequence, the rate now being 50¢ per bushel as compared with 20¢ at the beginning of October. The increase in freight rates decreases the price of wheat at this end. Today's prices are: No. 1 hard, 80¢; No. 1 northern, 77 3/4¢; No. 2 northern, 75 1/2¢; No. 3 northern, 73 1/2¢; spot or delivery first half November, futures on the option market closed, Nov. 77 5/8¢; Dec. 75 5/8¢; May, 81¢. All prices are for in store Fort William and Port Arthur.
Oats—No. 1 new oats, 32¢; No. 2, 30¢; No. 3, 28¢ per bushel; car lots on track here.

Vancouver, Nov. 13.—The exact location of the Pacific terminus of the Grand Trunk Pacific, has not yet been definitely decided on, notwithstanding all reports to the contrary. That it will be somewhere in the vicinity of Port Simpson may be taken for a settled fact, but whether on Klen Island or on the mainland is a matter that is at present at issue between the Indian department of the Dominion government and the officials of the Grand Trunk Pacific.

So said Hon. Henry R. Emmerson, Minister of Railways and Canals for the Dominion of Canada, who arrived from the east today accompanied by a party of friends.

This is Hon. Mr. Emmerson's first visit to Vancouver for five years, and he naturally notes many improvements in the railway yards and station. "If the progress of the rest of the city is in keeping with what I see here," said Hon. E. Emmerson, as he looked out of his car windows today, "it certainly must be wonderful."

Since last July his private car has been Hon. Mr. Emmerson's home in a lengthy tour of inspection over nearly all the principal railways and canals in Canada. The tour, as Mr. Emmerson states, was taken in order that he might familiarize himself thoroughly with railway matters all over Canada. The minister was particularly impressed with the immense strides made throughout the Northwest, in fact, he was highly enthusiastic about the future of that region. Asked regarding his impressions of that part of the country, Hon. Mr. Emmerson said:

"I came west over the route of the Canadian Northern as far as the rails would take me, and then drove the remainder of the way from rail-end to Edmonton. It was not very far—about thirty miles when I was there. By the end of this week, I am informed, the track will be completed as far as Edmonton, and there will be great rejoicing in that city. Some fast work in rail-laying was being done when I was there, for they were laying the rails at the rate of three miles a day. And it is all through splendid territory that will soon be yielding thousands of bushels of fine grain. I also drove for some distance along the surveyed route of the Grand Trunk Pacific and I must say that the C. P. R. has nothing the best of it in the matter of traversing a fertile part of the country."

Asked regarding his rumored trip up the coast to inspect the Grand Trunk Pacific terminus, Hon. Mr. Emmerson said:

"I shall go over to Victoria tomorrow, returning probably by the end of the week, and will then start eastward. Early next spring, when the Grand Trunk Pacific terminus is definitely located, it is my intention to come out west with Mr. Morse, vice-president of the Grand Trunk Pacific, and go north in company with him to inspect the terminal points, which I hope will then be decided on. The red tape usually experienced in regard to lands comprised in Indian reserves is what has delayed the location up to the present. The fact that the Grand Trunk Pacific has filed plans with the government does not indicate that Klen Island has been granted to the company as a terminal site."

TO HANDLE ALBERTA WHEAT
 Vancouver, Nov. 13.—J. E. Hall of the Hall Elevator company, which firm recently purchased a site for a grain elevator on Smith street immediately to the east of Recreation Park, arrived in Vancouver today from Winnipeg, and authorized the statement that his plant would be in operation by the first week in January. The first grain to be handled will be the crop of Alberta, which is principally Turkey Red wheat of the finest quality, so fine that the No. 1 grade has been bid up to within a few cents of No. 1 northern in the Manitoba market.

Work on the clearing of the site for the elevator is now proceeding and just as soon as the ground is cleared the construction of the elevator will be commenced. While in Winnipeg Mr. Hall completed arrangements for the machinery necessary for the elevator, and it will be installed as soon as the building is completed. Mr. Hall will remain in Vancouver from now on to superintend construction work.

While en route West Mr. Hall stopped off a few days at Calgary. There he found that the Alberta crop had not yet really commenced to move. Grain-growers are now busily threshing their wheat and the first heavy movement of grain from the farms to the elevators will commence in December.

Mr. Hall estimates that the milling wheat produced in Alberta this year will amount to close upon 1,000,000 bushels. Estimates have placed the total crop at 1,500,000 bushels, but all this will not be milling grade.

The experience of grain-growers in Alberta this year has been such as to demonstrate beyond the shadow of a doubt that Alberta has a great future before it as a grain growing centre.

A reliable cough and cold cure should be always in the house ready for use the moment the first symptoms appear. It is always easier, cheaper and better to check a cold in the very beginning.

It is safer, too. Shiloh's Consumption Cure, the Lung Tonic, has been tested for thirty-three years, and tens of thousands of homes in Canada and the United States to-day are never without it.

A dealer writes: "Shiloh's Consumption Cure is without doubt the best remedy for Coughs and Colds on the market. Once used, my customers will be regulars."—L. Elder, Nanawauya, Ont.

THE LITERARY
The last meeting of the Edmonton Literary society for the season was held in the Art School room Wednesday, November 11. It was a success from many points of view and the general opinion was that the meetings this season will be very successful. The speakers certainly showed their mastery of the very interesting program and prepared.

The program of the evening was a most successful one. The president, Mr. John G. G., pointed out the possibilities of the society for the future. The first item was a piano solo by Miss Velma Ironsides, which was well rendered. After this number the Hon. Mr. Talbot, M.P., gave a recitation of "The Day and I am out," which was met with great applause. A piano solo by Miss Ada Brewster followed. The fifth item was a song by the quartette, Messrs. Walker, Taylor, Garton and Knott. The next number was a debate, Resolved "That Girls Should Indulge in Athletics." The affirmative was taken by Mr. Harry Briggs and Miss Florence Forin, and the negative by Mr. Walter Walker and Miss Lillian Dose. The debaters appeared to be well acquainted with their subject and thoroughly argued the points. After the debate, the critic, Mr. Johnson, made a few remarks on things in general, and mentioned some mistakes that we are sure will be remedied in the future. Mr. Ellis, the judge, then gave his decision in favor of the affirmative.

TEMPERANCE DELEGATION

A delegation led by Rev. John McDougall of Calgary, and composed of Rev. Dr. Chown, of Toronto, general secretary of the Department of Temperance of the Methodist church, Rev. C. H. Houston, of McDougall street church; Rev. H. A. Gray, of All Saints' church, and others, representing different churches and temperance societies in Alberta, waited upon Premier Rutherford and Hon. Dr. DeVeber today, with a view to ascertaining the attitude of the new government in regard to the liquor traffic. A resolution was presented to the Premier, who asked chiefly for legislation to abolish the bar rooms, the general sentiment being toward the Government operation of the liquor traffic. The delegates were assured the Government would take their representations into consideration. A local committee has been appointed to again interview the Ministers on the matter.

SALE OF H. B. LANDS

A big sale of Hudson Bay Reserve lots took place at the office of F. Helmick & Co., yesterday morning, when a large portion of the recently surveyed property north of the C. N. R. station grounds, was sold, also the unsurveyed block south of the yards. The sale commenced at ten o'clock and every lot was sold at a quarter past twelve. The lots were $250 and went at from $150 to $600 apiece. So eager were buyers to secure the lots that some were on hand at the office at 3 o'clock in the morning. One man is said to have waited from half-past nine the previous night.

SOCIAL TO-NIGHT

A social in connection with the All Saints' Young Men's Club will be held this evening in the schoolroom. Progressive whist will be the chief attraction with a few songs at intervals. The social will commence at 8.30, though the clubroom itself will be open, as it is every evening, from four o'clock till ten.

There seems to be a need for a room of this kind, where the young men of the town can spend a quiet hour and the committee trust their efforts will be appreciated.
